

H&S- 0001

Emergency First Aid at Work

Introduction

Candidates will learn skills which will allow them to save a life until a more appropriately qualified person arrives to take over.

This course is suitable for anybody and no prior training is required.

Training Content

The following subjects will be covered:

- Health and safety (first aid) regulations
- Managing an incident
- The priorities of first aid
- Treatment of an unconscious casualty
- Resuscitation
- Shock
- Bleeding
- Common workplace injuries

Training Facility

Training will take place at the Offshore Marine Academy premises in Bristol.

Duration

This programme will be delivered in one day.

Cost

£95.00 plus VAT.

Starting Date

February 13 2012

March 8 2012

Other dates available upon request

